Following are 2016 prices for Inside Washington Publishers' products, specializing in news about the federal policy process. For 36 years, IWP has served readers with relevant, exclusive and timely information on environment and energy policy, international trade, defense, health care and cybersecurity. In 2014, we added InsideEPA/climate as a content center. We publish eight online news services, 16 newsletters and four E-Letters. Prices shown on the following pages are applicable to new subscriptions and renewals.

Content Groups

Environment and Energy – Anchored by InsideEPA.com, the group provides news about the federal policy process for environment and energy professionals through seven newsletters, two online news services and three e-letters. The group's flagship newsletter, Inside EPA Weekly Report, has been serving readers with exclusive news about environmental policymaking for 34 years.

InsideEPA/climate, our newest online news service, focuses on burgeoning climate-change debate and the Obama administration's efforts to regulate greenhouse gas emissions.

International Trade – Inside U.S. Trade and two online news services cover U.S. trade policy developments in Washington, among trading partners and around the world. Inside U.S. Trade has been the newsletter of choice for policy professionals for over 27 years, available for the past 17 years in both print and online (World Trade Online) versions. China Trade Extra focuses on US-China trade relations.

Defense – Exclusive news about Defense Department programs, procurement and policy flows through InsideDefense.com, a comprehensive online news service, five newsletters and three e-letters. The newsletter group is anchored by Inside the Pentagon and also includes products on the Army, Navy and Air Force.

Health Care - InsideHealthPolicy.com, an online news service, anchors IWP health-care coverage, which concentrates on federal policymaking and health reform. The newsletters are FDA Week, Inside CMS and Health Exchange Alert. Other online products include InsideOSHAOnline.com.

Cybersecurity - Inside Cybersecurity, an online news service, covers the fast-emerging national security priority for putting into place protections against cyber attacks, and the quasi-regulatory system that will require industry steps to protect cyberspace. Daily news and analysis, supported by e-mail alerts providing daily news and analysis.
